

YOYO Trail, December 2022 Hard Hike

The December hard hike, originally scheduled for Tuesday December 27, is being designated as a YOYO (You're On Your Own) event. Yes, you will be hiking, but not with our usual SIR member hikers. The last Tuesday in December can be a difficult time to carve out a half day for a designated hike (and it might be raining on that day), so you will get to choose a day, time and location that best suits your personal schedule. This is not a “free pass” to do nothing! You must hike sometime in the second half of December.

How will we know that you hiked? I am asking all who do hike, please send me, Carl Ludwig, a short email that describes:

- Day, start time, and location/trail name
- Approximate mileage
- The number of other people/parties you saw on the trail
- Any noteworthy occurrence or event that you remember from your hike
- Recommendations for other SIR hikers

After the close of the month, I will compile all the hike data that you have submitted to me, and I will share the summary information with you all. We can discuss the results at a future 2023 hike!

This is an opportunity for you to explore new vistas or perhaps old vistas that we as a group have not attended recently. Please get out and enjoy your hike!
